

Embellish your home, from the comfort of your home

Gorgeous furniture, décor & accessories from Frangipani will enhance any home, whether they are made from new materials, "found" items or raw products.

Here's a décor store that has embraced technology in a big way. Frangipani has a solution for all the busy people. Not only can you shop online, but you can even participate in their monthly décor talks online and get expert advice on décor aspects. No matter where in the world you are, just diarise the Décor Talk, click on the link at the given time of the presentation, see the slide show and listen to the talk. Post your comments during the presentation and get immediate feedback. Nifty!

Of course, nothing beats being there to touch & feel. "We have had amazing talks on colour psychology, creating focal points and natural floor finishes. Our Décor Talk on 16 March will be presented by Heather Darby of Bathroom by Design - 'Smallest room, Biggest help'. We don't charge for the talks and customers can chat and enjoy refreshments while they're here," says Karen Fraser, owner of Frangipani.

The products stocked at Frangipani are an eclectic mix of décor mainly imported from South East Asia, with some originals sourced locally around southern Africa. They are mostly handmade, so no two items are exactly the same. You'll find chandeliers made from palm leaves, banana leaf candle holders, rattan baskets and unusual mirror frames made from recycled paper, gorgeous furniture made from recycled French oak wine barrels, tables made from bamboo and resin and much more.

"Boring is one thing Frangipani is not," says Karen. "Our customers don't want what the Jones' have. They don't follow a craze that will be out-dated next season. Their homes are warm, modern, even contemporary and reflect their individual character. They want value for money. They want decor with personality. We get that!"

If you prefer to shop online, you'll automatically qualify for 15% discount. No credit card details are required - you pay by electronic transfer (EFT) once you have received the invoice. The products are then delivered to your doorstep, or couriered to anywhere in the country – perfect if you have to send off a birthday gift to a special friend at the coast.

Facebook fans can follow the latest on what's happening on Frangipani's Facebook page - <https://www.facebook.com/frangipanidecor>, where you can also subscribe to join the Special Events database.
